UNPUBLISHED LETTERS OF STEVENSON.

TREASURE ISLAND MAP.

Self-conscionaness and fretfulness tre the insignia of youthful genius, and even Shakesponre has left it on second that he must have chafted under the charrow of wounded selfsteem, for he begins one of his sonnets with the lines:

When in disgrace with Fortune nd men's eyes.

I all alone boweep my outcast

Burns, Shelley, and Kents have at many such self-communings, and the anetion-room, has jumped at them. Not long ago it was shown that the market was prepared to treat Robert Lauis Stevenson's mamiscripts and letters as desirable prey, although, curiously, neither Carlyle nor Ruskin has a high sale 'quotation." On July 21 at Sotheby's the Stevenson cult is to have a fine opportunity. Stevenson's stepson. Mr. Lloyd Osbourne, has sen a number of quite unpublished letters by the great writer, and such an im portant manuscript as thirty-six folio pages of Stevenson's unfinished story

THE WOMAN OF

Soon after reaching the age of forty almost every woman has reason to grow anxious about her health.

This time of trial with its attacks of faintness and palpiterion, fits of terrible depression, violant headaches and back pains, needless foars and emotions, is right-ly dreaded by the weaker sex, but, with proper care, no serious ill-effects will arise. At this turning point of life Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have given a helping hand to ment thousands of distressed women who wore fighting a supeless battle against fickle health and waning strongth. The best help for any woman who has reached the "fareful forties" is the healthhelp given by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have a valuable strengthening effect, arising from the fact that they reinforce the blood supply, enrich ng and purifying it. In doing so they help to mourbh the starved overtaxed nerves and give new strength to the vital organs. By this natural process all pains and weaknesses are completely dispelled and a better, happier condition of health and spirits Pills to-day and begin to get well. Mont dealers sell them; or direct from Dr. Williams' Co., 84 Frechuen Road, Shanghai, one buttle for $1.bt., six for $3/- pust

Some people would get back their Ascot losses, or a good portion of them, over The Guller's very satisfactory and popular victory in the Northumberland Plate at Newcastle to-day. Every year we are reminded that the race is best known by its other name—the Pitmen's Derby. Well, this is the sort of result to have to a Derby, and as The Guller. is a Northern horse, coming from little stable, his candidature was of bjust the kind apart from the big possibilities held out by the book of form, to attract the tens of thousands of workers who are this week "playing at the races. Bookmakers big. and little particularly in the North will know that The Guller has won, as also that the starting price of 9 to 2 has pleasingly surprised his backers. If the pitmen are to

OCCASIONAL NOTES.

The inward service of Siberian mails in recent days has been far from satisfactory. Why the postal authorities in Shanghai choose boats that were never constructed as mail carriers to convey our Home mails on the last stage of their journey is to us a mystery. This week the mail of Wednesday was delivered or Thursday, while the mail due on Friday had at the time of writing not arrived. We will not mention the inconvenience caused to the Hongkong commercial world by such a service, but will express our sympathies with the poor lone bachelor who has always to wait an extra day for news of the girl he left behind him! Seeing that the recent protest of the Chamber of Commerce did not receive the treatment it merited the authorities might consider the appeal of the poor lone one and do something towards mitigating the monotony of his exile.

EXTENSION OF OBJECTS SOUGHT.

In the Supreme Court this morning, before the Acting Chief Justice (Mr. Justice Gompertz) an api lication was made in the matter of the China Fire Insurance Company, Ltd., for the sanction of the Court to an alteration of the memorandum of association extending the objects for which the company was formed. The new memorandum added, generally speaking, all kinds of insurance carried on in connection with fire insurance except, of course, life insurance and nickness and personal accident risk, which were its a different category. The reason for this application was that insurance methods, as the shidavit showed, had altered muce the formation of the comformerly did. The tendency was increasingly for companies to take various risks. Life insurance was on a different footing and excepted from his observations altogether. The ordinary objects of insurance had in recent years to increased that people insuring : owndays would not take out separate polices in different companies, but insisted on doing all their business in one office." As a natural corollory they insisted on going to the office which could do it all, and closely restricted offices which had not extended their objects -as most of them had recently done-would lose their business, even in their own 1 ne. His Lordship: "A man who insures his house against fire likes to have typhoon insurance in the same company.

Mr Sharp said that was exactly the position, and the principle was estried very much further than that, it ther companies had as a netter of fact, bethat Home and in Hongkong, during the past few years to a very grab, extens altered their memerrands and objects, and if his Lardship for any reason withheld, his stuction this company would be in a position of serious disseventage and bicreasing disadvantage. in business significate other companies with

Mr. Sharp read an affidavit by Mr. G. W. C. Prinbeston, secretary to the company, which disclosed, among other things, that the company in addition to its present powers of corrying on the husiness of fire insurance desires to be able to carry on all other branches of the besiness of fire, marine, typhoon, accident, employers liability, fidelity, earthquake, transit, hurghry and other insurances which can advantageously be combined with fire insurance, and the company does not desire to carry on the business of life, sickness, personal accident, motor or nerial business or contingency insurance business such as insurance of Royal lives or against the happening of any untoward events such as

His Lordship; You are enlarging the scope of the company very much. Would it not be requisite to make some alteration in the name, such as the addition of " and general.". I see that in the case of most companies where the cope has been extended in this way it has been done. Mr Sharp said he was in his Lordship's hands entirely on this point, but he would know that it was objectionable, if it could be avoided, to change the name of a well established company like this. It did not only do business locally, where any change of name would be understood, but at a distance where it might be mist ken for another company. His Lordship's would see from Mr. Pemberton's affidavit that a large number of the Home companies had retained their mames. As to the second point, the powers of investment, it would be soon that in the new memorandum had been included the power to invest the funds of the Company in practically any way that a prudent man would invest his own money. There was no statement in the old memorandum as to powers of investment, therefore they must he such as were implied to the cape of secompany carrying on a husiness of this nature It was in mifestly necessary that an insurance company should have its funds invested in a readily accessible way, The company had implied power to investits surplus profits, and was not bound to pay away all its earning to the shar-holders.

His Lordship asked a veral questions: this authorities had been quoted he intermsted. that he would like to consider the matter. and reserved his decision. His Lordship also directed that the minute book of the company be produced to him in Chambers.
